The screenshot shows a news article from GovInsider. The main headline is "UNESCO releases new handbook on climate change reporting in Asia Pacific". Below it, a sub-headline reads "The new handbook for journalists says climate change coverage at the local level can be 'informed choices'". To the right, another article is visible with the headline "Digital creativity and innovation lacking in kids in APAC: report". The article text states "The regional UNESCO report includes recommendations for education policymakers." and "Governments in the region need to do more to promote digital creativity and innovation in children, a new UNESCO report reveals." The image shows children in a classroom setting.
