SPOTLIGHT

The third quarter of 2022 saw the Bangkok Office energetically reporting to the public on the diverse outcomes of the 2nd Asia-Pacific Regional Education Minister's Conference (APREMC-II), and its culminating Bangkok Statement 2022, in the lead-up to the Transforming Education Summit (TES) of the UN's 77th General Assembly in New York. Also in early September, UNESCO Bangkok participated in the 2022 Global South-South Development Expo, hosting a roundtable Thematic Solutions Forum on education recovery and transformation in Asia-Pacific, with public outreach and advocacy promoted on site for all Bangkok Office units. Micro-credentials and a harmonised higher education space in Asia and the Pacific, as well as initiatives in heritage management and indigenous youth and languages were advocated, as the Office warmly welcomed new unit chiefs Feng Jing (Culture) and Joe Hironaka (Communication and Information).
