In the final quarter of 2020, Public Information and Outreach focused on an extensive communications campaign in support of the flagship “Together for Peace” initiative organized by UNESCO Regional Bureau for Education in Asia and the Pacific, building positive peace in the region through human rights and education. Key communications projects included contributing to the Director’s op-ed published in The Bangkok Post launching the initiative after a meeting with National Commissions in late September. The campaign was also complemented by multimedia and print materials raising awareness of positive peace among Member States and members of civil society.
